The theft could only have been committed by some person wearing the uniform of an officer, and who by that means could have free ingress and egress through our lines and tents. Our regiment will to-morrow take up the line of march oward the South in the face of an armed enemy, and we are unable to express to our friends at home the disappointment and sadness we feel in not being able to carry with us the Irish banner of which all of us were so justly proud. We do not however envy the sensation which the wretch must experience who found himself at any time so contemptible and degraded as to violate the courtesy extended him, and commit so infamous a theft.

The undersigned officers of the Irish regiment will pay one hundred dollars for the recovery and delivery to us of the flag herein referred to, and for the apprehension and tention of the thief until he can be tried for his crime.

NEW AND VALUABLE WORK

FOR LAWYERS, JUSTICES OF THE PEACE, And all Connected with the Judicial Administration of

Of the State of adiana,

CONTAINING THE REVISED STATUTES OF 1852 with the amendments thereto, and the subsequen legislation, with notes and references. Judicial decisions. EDITED BY

JAMES GAVIN AND OSCAR ORD. Volume 1, Published by

BINGHAM & DOUGHTY, INDIANAPOLIS. Judge David McDonald, one of the most eminent lawyers of the State, volunteered the followinecommendation of the work:

STATUTES OF INDIANA, BY GAVIN & HORD .- Some months ago, the above named gentlemen issued proposals for publishing, in two volumes octavo of some 800 pages each, al the statutes of the State passed since 1851, with annotations. The first volume of the work is now published; and Indianapolis, in and for the District of Indiana, on the 3d | the manner of its execution, both mechanically and edito-The imperfect manner of publishing our statutes under State authority, has always been a source of great inconvenience to the Indiana Lawyer. The revision of 1852, as well as the statutes passed since that year, might almost as well have been published without any index. Up to sity of turning over, leaf by leaf, the volumes o our statutes to find any particular enactment. And every one knows how annoying and provoking this is, especially in the hurry of business as in our Courts. Happily for the profession, the publication under consideration promises a better state of things in the future. The first volume o Messrs. Gavin & Hord's work contains an excellent and copious index, which to every practicing lawyer in the tate is itself worth the money which the volume costs. The volume under review contains another excellence Allits pages are supplied with valuable marginal indices, so that a glance at the margin is sufficient to apprise the eader of the contents of the page. Another matter of great importance to the lawyer in this volume is a good collection of the subjects of all legislation since 1851. Heretofore, the lawyer in examining our legislation on any given subject had first to find what was relevant to it in the Revision of 1852, and then to turn over the pages of the volumes of subsequent Statutes, to see how far recent legislation may have repealed or mod fied the provisions contained in that Revision, and even then he would often feel doubt whether he had found all the legislation on the subject of his inquiry. Messrs. Gavin and Hord have relieved us of all this trouble and doubt. They have collected together in consecutive pages all the statutes made since 1851, on the same subject. Thus, on pages 373 to 377 of their first volume they have collected all our legislation, now in force, on the subject o husband and wife, including the act of 1852 and three actof 1857. And they have followed the same mode o coocation, in appropriate consecutive pages, in regard to all other topics of legislation.

A still more valuable feature are the copious and accurate notes contained in the volume in question. This volume includes the Constitution of the United States, the Constitution of Indiana, and several important acts of Virginia and statutes of Congress, and a large portion o our own statutes now in force. The numerous decisions o the Courts on the various provisions contained in these Constis tutions and statutes are found at the bottom of the appropriate pages, in the form of neat, brief and accurate noteand references. Messrs, Gavin & Hord seem to have performed this part of their work exceedingly well. It must have cost them much care and labor. By it they have greatly lessened the labor of the practising lawyer, and have well merited his grateful approval. In every respect the volume under review is highly reditable to the dilligence, accuracy, talents and the taste o its editors, as well as to the mechanical skill and neatness of its publishers, and it must raise the just expectation or the profession, as to the value of the second volume, which we understand will be forthcoming in a few months, and which will contain the code of pleading and practice o 1852, with subsequent amendments and other statutes. Without any concert with the editors or publishers of the volume in question, the writer of this article has been induced to compose and publish this little review of the book,

Thave had occasion to lay prejudice aside, and give your Hair Restorative a perfect test. During the year 1854, I was so unfortunate as to be thrown from my sulky against a rock near the road side, from which my head received a most terrible blow, causing a great deal of irritation, which communicated to the brain and external surface of the head, frem the effect of which my hair was finally destroyed over the entire surface of the head. From the time I first discovered its

Dear Sir:—I feel it my duty as well as my pleasure, to state to you the following circumstances, which you can use as you think proper. A gentleman of this place, (a lawyer,) has been bald ever since his early youth, so much so that he was compelled to wear a wig. He was induced to use a bottle of your "Hair Restorative," which he liked very much; and after using some two or three bottles his hair grew out quite luxuriantly, and he now has a handsome head of hair. The gentleman's name is Bradford, and he is very well known in our adjoining counties, many persons can testify to the truth of
